WALLER IS NOT READY TO WORRY OVER ARMY MEAT

Despatch Concerning Requisitioning of Australian Supply Not Alarming

Gilbert J. Waller, of the Hawaii Meat Company and the Metropolitan Meat Company, contractors for the supply of United States army meats and retailers to civilian consumers, declines to take seriously the news conveyed in an Associated Press despatch to the Star-Bulletin from London yesterday. The despatch states that Great Britain has requisitioned all the beef supply of Australia.

At the present time, and for many months past, the Metropolitan market has imported large shipments of beef from the southern continent and should this supply be cut off a beef famine for civilians of Hawaii practically would be assured, as the local supply probably would go to the army. The present order allows us to import beef to be used by the United States army only," said Mr. Waller today. "Thus we could not serve the Australian beef to civilian customers without violating the British order. I do not think this cable message affects us any. At any rate, we won't cross the bridges until we come to them."

In order to give the grass a chance to grow, all benches and other resting contrivances have been removed from the capitol grounds. The presence of "loafers" no longer will be tolerated, a police officer having been stationed in the grounds to see that this new regulation is carried out.

A seat on the New York Stock Exchange was sold for $59,000, an advance of $3000 over the last previous sale.

DIVER LOUGHMAN TAKEN TO COAST TO RECUPERATE

Failing to recuperate as rapidly as he should, W. F. Loughman, the diver who about three weeks ago became entangled in the cables while attempting salvage work on the submarine F-4, was today transferred from the hospital on the battleship Maryland and put aboard the army transport Sheridan, due to sail for the mainland at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Loughman is considered out of immediate danger, but his recovery has been too slow to satisfy the navy physicians, and he is being sent to the coast in the hope that a change of climate will hasten the return of health.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon eight of the sailors of the Maryland came down the gangplank, carrying Loughman on a stretcher, the intrepid diver being still too weak to walk.

Loughman was for a long time considered as at death's door, after his long submersion at a depth of 220 feet three weeks ago, when he became entangled in the cables about the F-4, and was under water for four hours. He was finally rescued by Diver Frank Crilly.

No especial progress was reported from the vicinity of the sunken submarine today. The tug Navajo, which yesterday made a strike while dragging with one of the new cable and chain lines, put out to the scene of operations this morning with more lines, after having undergone repairs during the night. The constant dragging of the last few weeks had weakened the Navajo's stern post, which was in need of strengthening.

It is not believed that yesterday's strike with the chain and cable was on the F-4, but it was planned to have the dredge Gaylord put a strain on the caught line today to ascertain what is holding it.

William McKinley Lodge No. 8, Knights of Pythias, held a get-acquainted meeting at the lodge rooms, Fort and Beretania streets, last night.

Mid-week Bible classes are to be resumed at the Central Union church with Rev. A. A. Ebersole as teacher. The meetings begin promptly at 7:30 Wednesday evenings. The public is welcome.

POPULAR YOUNG FOLKS OF FORT SHAFTER WEDDED

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

FORT SHAFTER, May 5.—The wedding of Miss Eleanora Lenihan and Lieut. Douglass Taft Greene, 2d Infantry, was celebrated last night at the quarters of Maj. and Mrs. Michael J. Lenihan at Fort Shafter and was attended by nearly 200, embracing service people and civilian friends of the popular young pair.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the 2d Infantry orchestra from its post on the lagoon began the strains of the wedding march and from their post on the stair, eight of the bachelors of the garrison in tropical full dress and with drawn sabers, marched by twos along the hall and into the magnificently decorated main room preceding Miss Catherine Lenihan, who acted as maid of honor for her sister. The bride was escorted by her father to the altar and right gracious and charming did she appear in a lovely gown with the soft folds of the bridal veil over her dark hair. Lieut. Greene, accompanied by Lieut. Hardigg, met his bride before the officiating priest, Father Ulrich, and there under the glorious bloom that transformed the room into a beautiful bower the ceremony was concluded. A reception followed and later a delightful collation was served to the many guests that thronged the spacious quarters. The health and happiness of Lieut. and Mrs. Greene was pledged many times from a generous bowl that was never allowed to approach emptiness. Dancing followed and was kept up until a late hour. At 10:30 Mr. and Mrs. Greene made a hilarious escape from the enterprising bachelors and left by motor with their destination a profound secret. They will leave for the states by the transport today, to be gone on a trip to last until late in June. In the upper hall of the home the many and magnificent gifts showered on the bride were displayed to the delight of the guests. The regimental gift of a service of flat silver was most impressive in its beauty. It was given by the officers and ladies of the 2d Infantry. Numerous cablegrams from relatives and friends on the mainland were received by Miss Lenihan during her wedding day, all couched in terms of affection and expressing the happiest hopes for the future.

Henry Ware Lyons, Jr., has filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the federal court. The petition gives his liabilities as $1,187.70 and his assets at $142, claiming statutory exemption on $100 of the latter.

ICE CREAM

When we installed an ice cream plant we had in mind to put at your service, what most modern cities have, an ice cream plant which represents the last word in the preparation of this line of dairy products. The industry has developed probably far beyond your knowledge of it. We are satisfied with the splendid patronage that has been shown for the new features introduced, but the unlimited variety which such a modern plant affords has hardly been touched. Besides having an up-to-date factory, we shall from time to time add such new equipment as the development of the industry affords.

For those of our customers who do not already know it, we wish to state that we are making anything that could be desired in the line of BRICKS; all flavors of our ice creams, puddings, mousse, and sherbets can be put in brick form.
